Additional Questions

Additional questions were submitted via email.

1. In which tabbed section should we include our acknowledgements of addenda to the RFQ?
 - a. Addenda acknowledgements are to be included at the beginning of the qualification package.
2. We have been in contact with the Architect who would like us to be the consultant for this project. The Architect confirmed that we are able to consult as well as bid on the work. We are able to develop a scope of work based on our observations and recommendations, then provide a corresponding quote on that scope. We believe this structure still ensures a fair and competitive bidding process, as all elevator vendors receive identical material quotes for non-proprietary equipment.

Can you please confirm we are able to participate in both, before we agree to consult?

- a. No. This will present a conflict of interest if an elevator contractor is a subconsultant to the Architect during the design phase and allowed to bid on the project as prime or subcontractor for the repair or modernization.
